

Dr Sabine Kleissl-Muir originally from Austria, moved to Australia in 2008 where she first completed her Master of Nursing (Cardiac Care). Following this, Sabine commenced her PhD candidature at Deakin University, graduating in 2024.

Having worked as a registered nurse in critical care for over 30 years, Sabine has a passion for the primary prevention of cardiovascular disease. Working as a Senior Research Officer with Professor Schlaich and his team at the Dobney Hypertension Centre allows Sabine to build on her knowledge in research and the prevention and management of cardiometabolic disease.